

October 29, 1945

My dear Bob:

Yesterday I went to the Court Room and observed the P.W's there - This suggested the possibility that when left alone they might be a means of placing articles of inconvenience to those present at the trial. We do not delude ourselves that it would not be attempted if a way were found to do it. Apart from intent, however, there is danger of an accident in that part of the building which you remember we were told had taken a real bombing.

I suggest the advisability of calling to the attention of the Army the possibility of danger in the situation and requesting a thorough inspection of the premises in every respect by the best talent in the Army engineers.

Donovan

by JEL